Continuation of 5. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: Applicant argued that prior art filtering is completely different data elements against completely different criteria than of the claimed invention. As to applicant's argument, Mao disclosed each table can be separated and filtered by the set-top decoder through table ID and/or tableID_extension fields (col. 8, lines 3-5). One ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention can interrupt that filtering process can be performed by setting different parameters or adjusting different criterias.
